LUCANIA'S WITHERS STAKE

AIR MODRED'S DAUGHTER DEFEATS THE COLTS AT MORRIS PARK.

Brandywine Second, as Usual, and Only Benten a Neck-Marsian Did Not Bleed and Won at Long Odds-Lamplighter Last in a Field of Three-Harry Reed, Belmar, St. Agnes, and Ina Took the Other Purses-Nanki Pooh Withdrawn.

The twenty-second running of the Withers Stakes was the feature of yesterday's programme for Morris Park. The poorest lot of three-year-olds that evar started for the historic old prize faced Mr. Rowe yesterday. and J. W. Rogers's filly Lucania, by Sir Modred, out of Sencol Girl, won, with O. H. P. Belmont' Brandywine second, and Col. Jacob Ruppert's Gotham third. Lucania has beaten Brandywine a head or a neck this fall for four good races. Nanki Pooh, the top weight, was withdrawn. He could probably have won even with 125 pounds up.

With Nanki Pooh withdrawn Lucania was an even-money favorite. Doggett, on account of his good showing a few days ago, came in for strong support, as did Gotham, Monaco, and Brandywine. Even Hawarden and Bellicoso had somewhat of a following. Lucania was the first to show at the start, but Reiff took her back at once and let Doggett and Gotham take up the running. Gotham turned into the stretch with a clear lead, but Lucania was within striking distance. Reiff waited until opposite what used to be the free field and then assumed the lead with Lucania. Griffin stole through on the rail, and was at Lucania's saddle girths with Brandywine a hundred yards from the wire. Brandywine stuck gamely to Lucania, and she had to be ridden hard. She switched her tail viciously, but fought the battle to the end with as much determination as any of the colts, and managed to beat Brandywine by a neck. Gotham was third, five lengths away, while Monaco was a very poor fourth. O'Leary was all at sea on Hawarden and could do nothing with the big colt when it came to a finish in the stretch. The spectacle of the midget trying to use the whip and hold Hawarden's head up was too much for the gravity of all but those who bet on the colt. Winners of the Withers Stakes in previous years included many famous horses. The race was named for the late David Dunham Witners and was won by that good sportsman's King Eric in 1890, the mile over the hill being run in

There was a big field of two-year-olds named There was a big field of two-year-olds named for the opening dash, a selling affair at five furlongs. Mack Briggs was the favorite, There was quite a long delay before a start was secured, Marsian acting very badly at the post. Roundsman, Refugee, and Right Royal were the leaders until the last fifty yards, when Marsian, with a splendid burst of speed, drew to the front, and won by a length in the very fast time of 58%; seconds. Right Royal might have won had Hewitt not gone to the whip, but he secured second place by a length from Roundsman. Alarum was only a neck away. Gifford, who rode Marsian, broke a stirrup webbing in pulling up, and, falling off, walked back to the stand. The winner is a fast gelding, but is prone to bleeding at the nose. Mack Briggs ran a very poor race.

With Rey El Santa Anita out of the handicap at one mile and a furiong, the talent turned to Lamplighter, who, even with 129 pounds up, seemed capable of beating Bathampton and Belmar Lamplighter wore blinkers for the second time in his long career, and he displayed a lot of fire on his way to the post and while there. When the flag fell Belmar went to the front and led over the hill by a couple of lengths, Rathampton and Lamplighter running like a team. It was expected that the others would everhaul Belmar when the time came, but Simms was sitting the quietest of the boys at the last furlong pole. First Lamplighter and then Bathampton was in trouble, and Belmar won as he pleased. It was a splendid race for second money, Bathampton getting it by a neck. It looked as though Lamplighter sulfed. He wore blinkers in his winning race at Gravesend and ran so well that Louis Stuart tried them again yesterday. The cunning old horse, however, seems to be up to all the tricks of the trade.

Harry Reed outclassed his field in the third race so much that 2 to 5 was a good price for the opening dash, a selling affair at five fur-

Harry Reed outclassed his field in the third Harry Reed outclassed his field in the third race so much that 2 to 5 was a good price against him. Waltzer was the most fancied of the others. Waltzer made the running to the middle of the upper turn, with Harry Reed and Preston close up and Iola heading the ruck some four lengths away. Harry Reed pressed Waltzer once they were headed for home and won very cleverly. Waltzer was an easy second, but Preston only lasted long enough to beat Iola a short neck for third money. Harry Reed was entered to be sold for $2,400, but there was no bid on him.

St. Agnes, the handsome daughter of St. Blaise and Thora, the apple of Charles Reed's eye, was favorite of the bunch of maiden two-year-olds that started in the fifth event. She is in Matt Allen's stable and Reiff had the mount. Double or Quits led down the hill, where she collapsed, and Bon Ami took the lead. Reiff waited with St. Agnes until the last furlong post had been passed, and then cutting loose, won without effort in fairly fast time. Bon won without effort in fairly fast time. Bon Ami was second and fold third. Boisterous and Allegra were close up. The winner is a racy looking filly, and she is well enough bred to do great things on the turf, being a half sis-ter to Dobbins, Yorkville Belle, and Sir Francis, all good winners.

ter to Dobbins, Yorkville Belle, and Sir Francis, all good winners.

Arapahoe and Sun Up were considered the best of the bunch of selling platers that ran in the last race at a mile. Nobody seemed to want the lead when the horses ran the first three-quarters of a mile. Arapahoe drew out a furlong from home and looked like winning easily when ina, ridden by little Johns, a Maryland pickaninny, came with an irresistible burst of speed, and before the crowd could gasp its amazement, won the race by almost a length. Arapahoe was second and Second Attempt third.

On the Latonia Track.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 17.—Latonia had the best race card of the year today. There were six races, nearly all strictly high class. Ye Tamblen, almost overlooked by the betters in the first race, won handly from Caab Day and Buckwa. The best field of two-year-old fillies ever seen in the West went to the post in the Soo Soo Stakes. T. W. McDowell's Brace Girdle work to rather easily at the end. The time, 1:15, was a very fast six furiongs for the track. Summaries;

the scene of some lively festivity last night. The "Indians" mustered in force to celebrate the tenth anniversary of their famous triumph at Madison Square Garden, when they startled their more faucied rivals from the larger organizations by capturing the "Seehs Banner" at the Myers benefit meeting.

During last night's entertainment T. Avery Collett, one of the oldest and stanchest adherents of the P. A. C., splend an agreeable surprise on his fellow "Indians" by distributing souvenirs of his popular club poem "The Blue Brazilian Cross," printed on silk and tastefully mounted in the club colors. He also contributed largely to the enjoyment of the occasion by some stirring and appropriate recitations of a sporting flavor.

Almost every other "Indian" present helped along the fun with songs stories exhibitions, and character sketches. The Reception Committee throw all economy to the winds, and the quantity of solid and liquid refreshments on hand proved almost too much even for the healthy appeties of the assembled athletes. The hour at which the graves in the adjoining churchyard are supposed to yawn had long passed before the reveilers broke up with a parting club vell, which woke the schoes for blocks around.

MY BRITTON TROTS A MILE A LEXINGTON IN 2:18 1-4

nd Mmnshes All Race Records for the Age—The Youngster Is Owned by John B. McFerran, a Graduate of Harvard Valley Queen Wins the Johnston Stake. LEXINGTON, Oct. 17 .- Tommy Britton, a Jefferson county product, won the Lexington Stake for two-year-old trotters this afternoon, and broke the world's two-year-old race record, trotting the last mile in 2:15%. The youngster went to the quarter in 0:34, the half in 1:07, threequarters in 1:42, and covered the last quarter in 0-225 a 2-09 clip. When it was appounced from the stand that the world's record had been broken there was prolonged cheering. Tommy Britton is a brown colt, 15 hands high, with three white feet, and has the characteristic Bell Boy finish. He is absolutely sound. He wears a six-ounce shoe forward, a four-ounce shoe be hind, and trots without any boots or any trap-

The history of the colt is remarkable. Old Tommy Britton, superintendent of the noted Glenview Farm from the time it began business until it was sold, received as a present from John B. McFerran, now deceased, a mare by Contractor. She was bred to Pancoast, the re sult being a bay filly that Tommy called Keep-Liberty Bell, a son of Bell Boy out of a mare by Pancoast. The result was the brown colt that made the world's record to-day. John B. Mc Ferran, Jr., a graduate of Harvard University. went into the trotting-horse business for his health. He liked the Liberty Bell colt, and when a yearling broke him and trained him for old man Britton without charge. The colt won three races as a yearling, never being headed. This year he has won five races, losing only one heat, the colt scaring at a shadow on the Hart-least fall young McFerran paid the old super-intendent $3,000 for the colt. Last week he trotted a half mile in 1:08, and Mr. Clancy, Mr. McFerran's partner in the ownership of the farm, said he could have gone the mile in 2:09. Young McFerran was offered $10,000 for the coltto-day before the race was trotted, and a gentleman who is negotiating for him said he might yet buy the colt at an advance over the price refused, provided he did not get a mark better than 2:15 in the race. McFerran agreed to this and on this account tried to drive as close to 2:15 as possible.

to this and on this account tried to drive as close to 2:15 as possible.

The unfinished Johnston Stake was won by Vailey Queen, she taking all three of the heats trotted to-day. Iron Bar, the colt that showed such gameness vesterday in winning two heats, although he had a bad leg, was distanced in the first heat this morning. A large quantity of co-caine was injected into his leg, but instead of benefiting him it ruined the colt's chances.

The 2:23 trot was an easy thing for the favorite, Wands. The 2:13 pace had twelve starters, but none of them was in good form except Belle T., who landed the race in straight heat. The 2:28 trot was unfinished. The two heats decided went to Carillion, the favorite. Summaries:

The followers of harness racing had another good day's sport with the trotters vesterday at the Parkway Driving Club's fall meeting. Although there were but two races on the card and one of them was won in straight heats, it was dusk and almost dark when Eddie Moser lifted McLaughlin Maid past the finish line in the sixth heat of the 2:34 race a winner by less than a length of one of the best contested races of the season on local trotting tracus.

between McLaughlin Maid, Detective, and Victor E., and as the first two trotters are owned by prominent members of the Parkway Club, the race excited a lot of interest among the crowd of Brooklyn road riders in attendance. C. D. Smith's stoutly made, headstrong, handy little gelding, Victor E., from Cornwall, finished in front three times in succession, but he indulged in too many gaining breaks, and was twice set back for running. In the second heat Victor E., McLaughlin Maid, and Detective finished heads apart in the order named, both the mare and the Cornwall horse having made a couple of breaks. Detective, who had trotted without lifting his nose, got the heat, and Victor E. was set back to third place. Another close finish occurred in the third heat, McLaughlin Maid and Victor E, fighting it out neck and neck. Both had made breaks and the judges Maid and Victor E. fighting it out neck and neck. Both had made breaks and the judges agreed on a compromise verdict, declaring it a dead heat. The last three heats were hotly contested from end to end, but the game little daughter of Hugh McLaughlin and Middletown Maid grew more reliable as the race progressed, and in three rattling finishes she fairly outstepped the trotter from up the river. The winner is owned Jointly by E. T. Hedford and Charles G. Moser, and she is bred right and gaited right to train on and trot fast. Detective, who was one of the contending horses throughout, is owned by Vice-President William Batterman of the Parkway Club. He was handicapped by having trotted a three-heat race on Wednesday. Eddle Moser drove McLaughlin Maid with rare skill.

Eighteen trotters put in an appearance in the 2:29 class, and a long race looked to be in sight. The club had offered to double the purse and divide the field, making two races, provided twenty starters came to the post, but the horsemen were two short of the required number, and Starter Arthur Benson undertook the difficult task of handling the unwieldy field on a half-mile track. Five of the contestants withdrew at the last moment, leaving thirteen horses to compete. Mr. Henson got them off in capital style with little delay, and to the surprise of everybody Trainer M. P. Devy landed the money in straight heast swith Hickorywood. Capitola Fisk, who finished second in each heat, should have remained in the stable yesterday, as it was plain that Penman was driving for second money and seeking to avoid a record on the fast daughter of Dictator Almont. Negotiations for a Football Game are Under Way, According to John C. Bell. It leaked out yesterday that certain influential graduates of Vale and the University of Pennsylvania have been working for a renewal of the annual football game between those institutions. The Pennsylvania men, it is said were the first to open negotiations, and several Yale men, residents of Philadelphia, agreed to help them. At present the situation is just this way: Pennsylvania is willing to play, but Yale is undecided what course to take. There has been considerable ill feeling at New Haven toward the Quakers ever since the game that was played at Manhattan Field two years ago. It will be remembered that Vale men openly denounced the alleged professional tactics of the Pennsylvania players in putting men on the team who were charged by Yale with being ineligible. Finally Vale declared that no more contests of any sort would be arranged ing ineligible. Finally Yale declared that no more contests of any sort would be arranged with the Philadelphians. Since that time the two universities have remained at loggerheads. Yale's trouble with Harvard and the subsequent loss of all annual contests with the Cambridge men caused no end of grief at New Haven and among prominent Yale graduates in this city. To many of the latter a game with Pennsylvania appears to be a move in the right direction. But opposition may come from some of the undergraduates at New Haven, whose thoughtless opinions have already caused no end of trouble.

A prominent football enthusiast outlined to a Sun reporter yesterday the importance of a Yale-Pennsylvania game. He said:

"As Pennsylvania game. He said:

"As Pennsylvania has a wonderfully strong team, a game with Yale would attract wide-spread attention. If Harvard and Yale should both defeat Princeton, and Pennsylvania beat Harvard, the meeting between the Quakers and the Blues would be of vital importance. It would also pave the way to a dual arrangement which would be decidedly interesting. The game could be easily played on Nov. 18 in New York city and would draw an immense crowd.

A despatch from Philadelphia states that John C. Bell, Chairman of the Pennsylvania from Point of the Pennsylvania from New Haven that Manager Foote of the Yale team declares that there is no prospect of a game.

Princeton Football Men Getting Into Fine Telm for the tiams with Harvard. PRINCETON, Oct. 17.-Now that the game between Princeton and Harvardis a ture for Nov. 2, football affairs in the Jersey college have taken a decided brace. The men are playing with a snap and vim which had not been apparent before. "Beef'y Wheeler, the veteran guard, is as happy as a child over the prospect of playing against the Crimson. He has started in at his old position of left guard and is playing regularly. He is in good physical condition and playing in his old-time form.

There is no fear that Princeton will not put a strong eleven in the field this year. As to the condition of the men. Trainer McMaster said:

The men are all in good physical condition. There are several aprained ankies and a few cases of sore muscles, but there are none of them serious. The worst of them should not keep a man off the field over two weeks. The policy has been to keep the men from getting too much of the game. Consequently we have no illeless men on our hands. The general feeling among the undergraduates is for a four or five years agreement with Harvard.

Entries close on Nov. 16 at the office of Secretary Young. 31 West Twonty-eighth street.

The classes for ponies are for herds of five, headed by a stailing. One class is for Shetlands, and one for ponies of any other breed. In each the prizes are $40, $30, and $15. Classes are to be opened later for hunters and jumpers, under the direction of a committee composed of Ralph N. Ellis, master of the Meadowbrock Hunt, John E. Cowdin, ex-master of the Rockaway Hunt, and Robert E. Tod, master of the West-chester Hunt clubs for a $500 silver cup, to be won outright by the team scoring the most points in jumping. Only horses entered by niembers of recognized hunt clubs, the Riding Club can be entered in the jumping classes.

In the live stock, poultry, and pigeon classes the prizes aggregate $16,000. The Indian Harbor Yacht Club of Greenwich, Conn., which for a number of years past has made its headquarters on Finch's Island, within a stone's throw of the site of the Indian Harbor Hotel, will shortly move to the mainland and erect a handsome club house on Rockport Point, where the steamboats now land. Commodore E. C. Benedict when he purchased the Indian Harbor Hotel also acquired Finch's Island, and, while the Commodore is too good a yachtaman to force the club to leave its quarters the members of the Indian Harbor Club thought that the interests of all the parties concerned would best be suited by a change, and since then the members have been looking for a new home. Last week one of the members of the club purchased the Rockport Point property, and satisfactory arrangements were at once made by the club to lease the ground, and within the next twelve months a club house will be erected, and the club, which ranks only second to the Larchmonts, expects to start on a new lease of life.

however good, is wasted on a cold, toneless, flabby stomach. It is unjust to blame the cook. He can supply only food; you must find the power to turn it into flesh and blood. It is the part of wisdom to recognize the signs of indigestion, and to stimulate the lazy stomach

a tonic never more valuable than now, when the body is tried by sudden changes of air. It sustains the vigor of the system and prevents rheumatism, asthma, and digestive trouble, diseases that arise from cold and imperfect circulation of the blood. The only medicinal whiskey in the market.

Druggists and Grocers sell it.

PLENTY OF HALF-RATERS.

Even the Cauce Clubs Will Rose Them Next Year. It is evident that the season of 1806 will find the smell single-handed sailing yacht of about fifteen feet water line length, or of one-half rating, according to the English measurement rule, firmly established in popularity among local yachtsmen, and recognized as a class by a majority of the yacht clubs in these waters. The success of the races given by the Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht Club, which undertook the introduction of this class of little boats during the past season, was very gratifying to all who were concerned taining the interest aroused at that time. It is probable that at least a dozen of these little bonts will be built by next season. The latest club to take up the half-raters as a class is the New York Canoe Club, which for several years has had the first bulf-rater built in this country. This pioneer craft is La Gloria, designed by W. P. Stephens, the designer of Ethelwynn, from the plans of her owner,

M. T. Bennett. Other members of the club who have already Other members of the club who have already announced their intention of building haif-raters for next season are H. C. Ward, who will build a boat on the model of L. D. Huntington's Question: Couriney Hyde, ex-captain of the club, and E. A. Bennett. It is expected that at least a half dozen in all of these single-handers will be added to the club fleet by next spring, as few cances have been built during the past two years on account of depression in the aport.

The unsuitability of the narrow cance for these waters was conceded, and the only question was what to substitute for it. Many members of the club believe that the half-raters will answer the demand, and that their adoption by the cance club generally will be of creat advantage in reviving the wanning interest in the sport. It is probable that the Marine and Field Club of Rati Beach will also ceatabilish a class of half-raters for next season. This club, which has always given more attention to canolog than to yachting, endeavored last year to establish a new type of cance better suited to these waters than the ordinary navy type. The attempt was a failure, through no fault of the club or of the type, but because of lack of support from other cance clubs and of canomen generally. William S. Elliott, who originated the new cance, is Chairman of the Regatta Committee of the Marine and Field Club. He has announced his intention to build a half-rater for next year, and it is expected that his example will be followed by a number of other members of the club. The matter will be considered by the Regatta Committee upon Mr. Elliott's return from a business trip upon which he is now absent. As most of the members of the New York Cance Club who have determined to build are also members of the Marine and Field Club, the new boats will be enrolled in the fleets of both organizations. announced their intention of building balf-
